Manuscripts Tunnel. DETAILS ABSTRACT: The Latin inscription at the top left reads "Lucius Muellius Q. f., Sextus unicus, in fundo Muellii, u.p. carminis C. R. C., f.v. c. T. C.", i.e. "Lucius Muellius, the one and only, in the Muellian hoard, u.p. of verses, c. p. T., 29 December, C. R. C., the year of the W. (= of our Lord's)". The letters C. R. C. were those of the Roman consul who had set up in 80 B.C. for the first time the right of appeal in cases before the Roman courts. He introduced a system of sending a delegate to all the provinces of Italy, and himself to Rome, to examine into all Roman business, aided by a commission of three. This commission consisted of at least two praetors-provisors, who acted as judge and prosecutor in cases, and a propraetor, who examined into all business. As for the year it is known that Muellius was born in 139, and that he died in 46; hence T. C. must be to 49, and the date must accordingly be considerably earlier than the century which stamps it as a manuscript of the time when the age of the Antonines was beginning. The verses under the inscription are unfinished. The figures in the lower part of the design are those of a tunnel. ADDITIONAL ID: CORRESPONDING BIBLIOGRAPHY: J. Dickman, "Una infanzia romana. What's New in the Photoshop CS5?

Q: JSON Routing with WebAPI + Entity Framework + MVC I'm starting to use WebAPI and MVC, and I've been looking at the example I found on the github repository of WebAPI, something like this: Well, I have been using the same solution I found in that repository since I started using EF, and since I decided to change the previous model to have a WebAPI, no more Entity Framework. But, if I want to generate the JSON for the response of the MVC controller, I have no clue on how to do that. It is possible? A: In the solution you linked to there is an ActionFilterAttribute that lets you decorate your actions with the proper JSON. You are also overriding the JsonResult that ASP.NET MVC uses, you can do that in your controller. This is typically done with the [AcceptVerbs("Get")] attribute that has either Get or Post or PUT methods. As long as you have those two attributes on your controller actions, you should be able to do what you want. [AcceptVerbs("Get")] public class TestController : ApiController { // JSON Get [HttpGet] [AcceptVerbs("Get")] public ActionResult Test() { // do your thing. } // JSON Post [HttpPost] [AcceptVerbs("Post")] public ActionResult Test(string data) { // do your thing } // JSON Put [HttpPut] [AcceptVerbs("Put")] public ActionResult Test(string data) { // do your thing } } Roma, 19 dicembre 2016 - "Non ho paura. Io e la mia famiglia ci siamo abituati fino a questa situazione". Così, a 48 ore dalla ch
