What's new in Elden Ring:

The campaign chapter is divided into two versions, and the division ratio is 3:1. The story of each version is greatly different. The game is an MMORPG, and at the same time, it is a MOBA!

In a short term, the number of monsters in the "Tamed" Chapter increases more than three times compared to the previous chapter, so you will be able to have fun while relying on the battle skills you develop.

In the Story Version, you will be able to play the two chapters you choose at the beginning as a searchable event. You can quickly and easily switch the chapters, maintaining the story flow of the theme. You can thus play and search for the event you want to play for each chapter. You can play the event you want, and advance the story towards the ending.

In the Combo Version, you play the two chapters you want and let the story unfold naturally, and you can enjoy the event at the start of the campaign.

The "Tamed" Chapter offers a layer of freedom while exploring the world. In each area, you can capture monsters and capture your own place, create your dream place where you feel comfy. You will be able to enjoy the sights and sounds of each area.

In the "Wild" Chapter, the number of the monsters is not so high, so you can enjoy the feeling of danger in an even broader area. You will be able to find many different kinds of wild events. Below is a description of the Items and Monsters of the "Wild" Chapter.

WOLVERINE-WOLFER, the Team that Explores All Towns

Nofima Wrap-up I must confess that I've been a little negligent in the non-running department lately. I should have blogged more than I have. I've done exactly one 10K plus two 5Ks in about two months. But I've been busy playing around in Nofima, and trying to juggle my creative output with my other businesses. And it's going well. I'm definitely not completely out of the ball game, but still on a bit of a hiatus. Last week I played around with Nofima and made a few adjustments that helped my tracking of the length of my runs. I wanted to get a top and bottom set of information. Track everything: One of the biggest problems I've had with this site is I don't track just the length of my runs or my speed but the time, the distance, my elevation gain or loss, and other fun stuff such as my heartrate. I'm not sure why I haven't tried to learn how to do this, but I think it's because I am more of an introvert than an extrovert and since I've been doing a lot of outdoor activities it's easier for me to track data by myself. So I'm planning to set up a particular way to record this data. So I tried to do a couple of 5Ks and a 10K and I found that the Nofima app registered a time, but not a distance and elevation. So I couldn't say how far I ran each time. In fact it won't tell you that in your current run either. It also won't tell you your elevation. But it will tell you how far you are. The app will also show you all the different types of data that it's gathering. For example it will show you your heartrate, which is
